Baltimore, Md., March 3 .- Three nundred tons of dynamite being loaded in the British tramp steamer Alum Chine, in the lower harbor off Fort Howard, exploded, instantly killing from 40 to 50 men, wounding and maiming three score more, some of whom may die, and destroyed $600,000 worth of property.

The Alum Chine and a loading scow alongside her were annihilated; the tug Atlantic, which twice went to the rescue of imperiled seamen, was set on fire and later sank; the United States collier Jason, just completed and ready for trial, was raked to her deck and her armor riddled, and buildings in Baltimore and cities and towns many miles away were rocked by the force of the terrific explosion.

The cause of the disaster is unknown, and federal authorities have instituted an investigation. Excited survivors told conflicting stories, some insisting that a negro stevedore caused the explosion by jamming a spike into a case of dynamite. This is denied by eye-witnesses, who declare smoke was seen pouring from the Alum Chine's hold several minutes before the explosion occurred.
